The first raid was made on March 6 at the Sepanggar port when Customs officers inspected two shipping containers and found 22,049.28 litres of alcohol worth RM850,837.62 that were being smuggled into the state.

The second raid on March 11, was made in a store at Kampung Ramayah, Jalan Penampang/Papar Lama in Penampang where enforcement team found 42,568.48 litres of alcohol valued at RM724,198.60 and 891,600 sticks of cigarettes worth RM975,013.44.

Based on investigations, all the items were being smuggled into the state from neighbouring countries.

The modus operandi of all these four cases was to smuggle the items through the Sepanggar port by falsifying information on the manifests.

"Our enforcement teams are properly trained and are able to spot or identify suspicious items as they go through the scanner machines in the Sepanggar port," said Mohd Nasir, adding that the cases are being investigated under Section 135 (1) (a) and Section 135(1)(d) of the Customs Act 1967.
